Dr. Diane Moore-Eubanks was born under humble circumstances June 15, 1963 to Charles A. Moore Order of Distinction and Bernice Moore, a retired College Professor of 50 years in Kingston Jamaica. Her father was born without riches but with excellent principles and values. As such, he saw the value of education and ensured that although he didn't have more than a middle school education that her mother and her siblings would attend the best schools possible. Accordingly, he started his own business. A business Dr. Diane assisted in from 6 years old until today 45 years later, she sits as a member of the Board of Directors for Chasrose Ltd. a real estate development company.

The Biography of Rev. Dr. Diane Moore-Eubanks

With the Moore family's strong educational beliefs she started her teaching career in 1986 after matriculation from Florida State University with BSc. Chemical Science minor Biology Magna Cum Laude, Phi Beta Kappa and University of Florida with a Florida Teacher Certificate.

She attended Georgetown Law Center and completed my Juris Doctor degree and became barred in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania as well as Norman Manley Law School and was licensed to practice in America and Jamaica.

Attorney Eubanks' legal career started 22 years ago as an intern at Black Entertainment Television under Attorney Deborah Lee (current President of BET). She then worked full-time at the Department of Navy as an Assistant General Counsel until she was assigned to the Clinton White House as a vetter for Cabinet members such as Secretary of State, Madeline Albright and Secretary of Defense.

During Dr. Diane's assignment with Department of Navy she was privileged to teach the high level officials in the Pentagon.

Dr. Diane also worked at the Naval Medical Research & Development Center, the Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland where she also served as Legal Advisor to the head Navy officer.

While with the Department of Defense she specialized in the Government Contracts and Procurement. She attended at the DODs bequest the Department of Army School of Contracts at the University of Virginia.

Dr. Diane left Government service to create stellar Real Estate Law offices in Maryland, DC and Virginia. Devastated in 2007 from the real estate market crash she was left homeless had to reassess how to restructure her life and sought GOD for direction. It was then that she began the journey that would allow her to utilize her strong educational foundation, faithful relationship with God, a love to help others and the ministries of Law and Teaching. This led to the birth of Global Oved Dei Seminary & University. Today she has created a platform to recognize the lifetime accomplishments and services of others in a way that provides an opportunity to reach, teach, empower and transform more people in this global community that we live and serve in.

She is a wife of Dr. Willis Eubanks for 29 years. They share 3 children, Sudan 8, Dakar 18 and Cairo 20 years old.

Dr. Diane continues to live by her motto:

“Service is what we give for being blessed with life. The greater our love of service our love for education and self-development should increase. As our Blessings increases we can strengthen our communities as well as our abilities to transform mindsets, and ultimately build a legacy of wealth.”
